Local FHA'er Joins States Chorus During National Club Convention

Clara Braford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Braford, Route 4, Appomattox, attended the 1964 national convention of Future Homemakers of America held July 13-16 in Chicago.

Clara, along with 2,400 other teenage delegates of this national organization of high school home economics students, participated in activities related to the meeting's theme of "Education —An Endless Challenge."

Mrs. Arthur Goldberg, author-artist wife of the Supreme Court Justice, addressed the convention on "Undergraduate Qualms and Postgraduate Woe" and told the FHA'ers that their futures as women and homemakers would contain 'not one, but many, roles.' Living in living comes from 'giving our best and fullest response to each commitment we meet,' she said.

Distinguished educators including Dean Herbert W. Schooling from the University of Missouri and Dean Robert Schaefer of Columbia University, New York, also addressed the convention.

Youth representatives of the half a million members of Future Homemakers of America reported on activities undertaken in local chapters throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Delegates are responsible for bringing ideas gained from the national convention to the members of their local chapters and state associations.

During the meeting, Clara sang in the All - States Chorus, was chairman of All States Chorus delegation and helped in a skit for Miss Jane Starke, of Ashland, Va., National Vice President of Southern Region.

Eva C. Moore Now WAC Cadet

FORT MCCLELLAN, Ala.—Eva C. Moore, daughter of Mr. Louis Moore, Appomattox, is attending a summer orientation program at the US Women's Army Corps Center here.

The four-week college Junior Program is designed to give a college student knowledge of career opportunities available to her as an officer in the Women's Army Corps, and to give her a first taste of life in the Army. Women qualify for the program by completing their junior year of college; they are enlisted in the Army Reserve, in the grade of E-4 (Corporal) and are called Cadets.

After graduation of the College Junior Class on 7 August, Cadet Moore will return to Longwood College, Farmville, Va. to complete her senior year. She may then choose to apply for a commission as a second lieutenant in the Women's Army Corps, although she is under no obligation to do so.

Cadet Moore is one of 190 college women from 32 states and representing 68 college and universities.

Dell Offers Day Camp 'Til Aug. 1

TIMREK DELL Camp located on the K. C. Paulette farm, Rt. 2 Appomattox, is offering a new day camp program for children of this area. Hiking, campcraft, bunkcraft, and nature study are being offered by the camp director, Miss Janice Ranson and her staff, in a special program for day campers until August 1.

Campers may bring their lunch— or purchase a luncheon and drinks at the Camp store, "The Cookie Jar."

but would "know those eyes anywhere.' Then we hear a cry. "God Bless Appomattox' and that is Genevieve Boguess speaking. Then we decide the thing to do is look up Walt Abbitt, and be is in Room 800, and has our badges all ready for us. Mrs. Abbitt and their daughter, Anne, are there, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Clawthorne, Senator Chas. T. Moses and daughter, Caroline, and Bill Rawlings . . . in fact Room 800 was a sort of headquarters.

The next morning we decide upon an early breakfast and then do what we came to Richmond to do . . . attend the convention. Free chartered buses are out front and arrive with a flourish at The Mosque. A lisely Usherette who looks like Miss America takes us down to the Fourth District section and it is right up front and lots of Appomattox people are there. One guy walks up and down the aisle and says he is looking for the Fifth and I show him where the Fifth District Delegates are and he says that is not the Fifth he is looking for. Finally the Temporary Chairman, my old friend, Lewis McMurren, comes out and makes a fine speech. Then Mayor Crowe welcomes us on behalf of the City of Richmond. Miller & Rhoads and Thalheimers, Another old personal friend, Sen. Almer Ames, of Ye Little Kingdom of Accawmacke comes out and responds to the welcome and puts the vote to thank Richmond for its hospitality: "all in favor say Aye, all opposed say Aye, the Ayes have it and so order." Bro. Watt Abbitt, the State Party Chairman, arises and nominates delegates and alternates to go to the National Convention in Atlantic City. His list was unanimously approved and on the list as Alternate Delegate -at-large for the State with one-half vote was Mrs. Calvin H. Robinson, of Appomattox. That is a great honor in politics and so far as I know, Brightleaf will be the first lady from Appomattox ever to attend a National Convention as a voting Delegate. I do want to salute Mrs. Russell Wagers, of Appomattox and Richmond, who is a member of the State Central Democratic Committee and I had a pleasant chat with her, and found that this is being written on her birthday. Appomattox is justly proud to claim Mrs. Wagers.
